SNEA Workshop Concludes Today

The seventh annual Professional Organizations Workshop has been meeting on campus yesterday and today. The general theme discussed in the meetings is "Requirements for the Future: Totally Professional — Exceedingly Competent."

The Workshop began yesterday at 1 p.m. with an assembly in the E. A. Diddle Arena. The keynote address, presented by Dr. Allan M. West of the National Education Association, was given at that time. After the address, group discussion meetings lasted for two hours.

A dinner meeting at Western Hills restaurant was given last night for the participants in the Workshop. President Kelly Thompson was the speaker at the dinner.

This morning at 8 there was another assembly at which Dr. W. R. McNeill, superintendent of Bowling Green schools, spoke to the group.

Meeting Set Tonight On Student Government

An attempt will be made tonight to set up a committee to work on plans for the formation of a campus-wide representative student government on the Western campus.

The meeting, set for 7 p.m. in the Little Theater of the Library, is part of the Congress Debate club-sponsored series of discussions on student government.

The committee will be formed from representatives of all the recognized student groups at the College. Invitations have been sent to campus leaders by the Congress Debate club and the office of the dean of students.

At last week's meeting club vice-president John Lovett told the group that the basic problem with a campus student government under Kentucky laws was giving enough power and responsibility to get student support, and still remaining within the law.

Power Distribution

The problem of power distribution was one of the main considerations of the discussion, "The Roles of the Student and the Administration in Student Government."

Dr. William M. Jenkins, sponsor of the club, said that there has "got to be responsible action with the future in mind. He emphasized that it "will take many hours of hard, dedicated work."

Dean of Students Charles Keown stated that any rights or powers which a student govern-

Student Original Slated Tonight In Snell Hall

Whatever happened to co-ed Julia Dickson?

Why would she commit suicide?

Penetrating questions, which set the stage for mystery in the one-act play, "The Talented Failure" to be presented tonight in Snell Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Directed by Asa Raymond, "The Talented Failure" is a student original written by Betty Shely, winner of the annual play-writing contest, and presented through Western Players Experimental Theatre.

It seems that Julia Dickson (Margaret Worden), a talented and intelligent student attending Clearwater College, has committed suicide. A meeting is called by the Dean of Clearwater (Jim Carveth) to delve into the mystery shrouding Julia's sudden death.

Julia's dorm-mother (Jean Curtis) and several members of the college faculty — art teacher (Dennis Adams), science instructor (Steven Shaikun), librarian (Barbara Watson), and drama director (Leo Burmester) — are present to discuss the elements which prompted the girl's death. At the meeting, each faculty member, believing that he caused Julia's death, relives his last meeting with her.

A surprising twist climaxes the drama in the person of Julia's boyfriend (Dale Ferguson), a senior at Clearwater who has his own opinion of why Julia died.

"The Talented Failure" promises a suspenseful and thought-provoking evening by presenting the "real" in college life.

Capacity Crowd Attends KEA Ballroom Breakfast

A capacity crowd jammed the Crystal Ballroom of the Brown Hotel for the annual Western Get-Together Breakfast Apr. 9.

Feature speakers for the occasion were Dr. Tate C. Page, head of the education department; Field McChesney, administrative assistant to the governor; and President Kelly Thompson, who presided.

Dr. Page, who represented the faculty, recalled the spirit of the Hill as he knew it nine years ago before joining the staff, and how he remembers that spirit now.

Alumni Ideals

Representing the alumni of the college, McChesney outlined several considerations of what an alumnus wants his college to be.

"First of all, he does not want it to be the way he remembered it as an undergraduate. Fond as we are of our college memories, we want to see our college progress, grow, develop."

"Second he wants a college that serves well all who may have need of it and can take advantage of its training, rejoicing that an ever multiplying number of citizens of all interests, ambitions, races, colors, economic positions and, even of all ages, may not only have the experience he once had but a more valuable experience brought about by more courses of study and today's wider knowledge."

"Third, he wants a college where scholarship is supreme, where imagination has a wide range, where prejudices are buried, where ambitions and aspirations are unchained."

"Fourth, he wants a college where the leaders of tomorrow—in all fields of endeavor—may receive the training and the inspiration vital to leadership. Where our leading scientists, statesmen, lawyers, doctors, educators, authors and artists of future years may reasonably be found today."

"And fifth, he wants a college that is true to the ideals, the truths, the dedication that he remembers from the time he was a student and was first inspired by those ideals, truths and dedication."

President Reviews Expansion
President Thompson outlined plans for future expansion, including a structure to be constructed on the present football field which would have facilities for outdoor concerts and performances utilizing the stadium seating.

Mrs. Jeanette Ryder Salle, who opened the breakfast with the singing of the "Lord's Prayer," concluded with "College Heights."

Next Play, 'The Letter' Sets Cast

Murder, Mystery, Melodrama — these are the explosive elements in Western Players next major production, "The Letter," by W. Somerset Maugham which opens May 5 in Van Meter Auditorium.

Directed by Dr. Russell H. Miller, "The Letter" is a lush and intriguing drama set in the days of British colonialism on the Malay Peninsula and in Singapore.

Frank Hammond is Howard Joyce, the lawyer forced to make a decision between friendship and legal ethics. Starring with Hammond will be Pamela Roberts Cooley as Leslie Crosbie, the beautiful yet aloof Englishwoman charged with murder, whom Joyce must defend.

Others in the cast include: Rodney Madden, P. J. Fuller, Asa Raymond, Louatha Banks, Dale Ferguson, Jim Duiguid, Dave West, Skeet Shipman, Marcia Clifford, Margaret Worden, Fred Dyrson, and Steven Shaikun.

Behind The Scenes

Schedules, Scholarships Face Sports Secretary

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third in a series to better acquaint Herald readers with those behind the scenes whose efforts contribute to Western's progress: members of the secretarial staff.

BY SIDNEY WARDLE

"It's quite a job," Mrs. Lillian Thompson, athletic department secretary, commented concerning her work.

"You have a lot of different personalities to deal with. There are at least ten full-time people in this department, and I do work for them all."

"The people I work for are all very fine people," she remarked. "I wouldn't swap them for any in the world."

How long has she been athletic secretary? "Too long to tell!" she quipped.

Interested In Sports

Mrs. Thompson is definitely interested in sports. She attends every football and basketball game. "I'm there every time they play," she said, but she doesn't participate in any sports, herself. "I'm past that stage," she laughed.

Her duties "are so varied it would be impossible to pin-point the all."

She is concerned with drawing up contracts, making travel arrangements and recruiting arrangements, as well as typing public relations materials. She also keeps track of expense accounts, scholarships, and physical education catalog material. "In this athletic business there are a million things to do," she summarized.

Hated To Leave

Concerning the move from the gym to the new Academic-Athletic Building, Mrs. Thompson said, "I hated to leave that old building; we had been there so long, and I associated a lot of memories with the gym."

"But I love the Athletic Building now. It's a beautiful place, and we all enjoy it down here."

Mrs. Thompson does miss the flag ceremony as it was held prior to all basketball games in the old gym. The lights were turned out, and a spot light illuminated the flag as it was be-

Sells Sells, Swartz Sells To Herald Advertisers

George sells. So does Bill. George who? George Sells.

Confused? Don't be. George Sells and Bill Swartz work on the business end of the College Heights Herald, selling space to local and national advertisers.

As assistant advertising manager, George both sells and writes ads. In years past, he has composed the Fashion House "Clothesline" ad and the "Do You Know" column.

The Louisville native is a senior physical education and English major currently student teaching at Glasgow high. On the side he works for the Higgins Distributing Co. of Hopkinsville. He is in the running for that company's "Salesman of the Year" award.

Sells Fraternity, Too

George also has many people "sold" on his fraternity, Lambda Chi Alpha. He has served most recently as Lambda Chi vice-president in charge of public relations.

An interest in everybody and everything — "everything except okra" — puts George at home in any surrounding. He likes travel and conventions. Experiences range from a jaunt through Mexico to playing Santa Claus in a local department store.

After graduation in June, George plans to stay on the Hill and work towards his master's degree.

Advertising assistant Bill Swartz began working with ads in Journalism 111, when he wrote Western Hills copy as an assignment.

Transplanted Chicagoan

Bill grew up in Chicago, but became a Louisvillian when his family moved there before his junior year of high school. He lettered in football all four years of high school ("In Chicago, high school is 9th through 12th grades — none of this junior high business," he explained), and was graduated from Shawnee High.

After that came four years' service in the Marines. Now he keeps himself busy with an area of concentration in English.

Bill and his wife have a 21-month-old son, Val, who is becoming quite a fan of the line-type machine. When Val comes with Bill to help with Herald production, he is happiest when he can watch the big device in operation.

In August of '66, Bill plans to leave Western to work on his master's degree, possibly at Indiana University.

He hopes to use the sales experience gained on the Herald staff in the future to become a salesman in television advertising.

Physicists Plan Advanced Work

Five senior physics majors will receive financial aid to pursue graduate studies according to Dr. Marvin Russell, head of the physics department.

Ronald Price received offers from the University of Kentucky to work on NASA trainingship program, as well as from the University of Virginia and the Atomic Energy Commission.

Neil Garrett has also received an offer from the Atomic Energy Commission to work in a health-physics program.

Also receiving fellowship awards were Gordon Dorris from Texas Tech and Glenn Glasgow from the University of Kentucky. Joseph Miles has received an assistantship from UK.

Don Froedge, a January graduate, is currently studying under an assistantship from UK.

Two other physics majors have accepted positions with the government and industry. James West is planning to work for the government in the Underwater Sound research and Eric Knutsen has accepted an offer from Eastman Kodak of Rochester, N.Y.

Can Library Expand Hours On Weekends?

Term papers and other research projects require extensive library work. Therefore, especially during these final weeks of the semester, Western's library draws a large percentage of the student body.

But are the library's week-end opening and closing hours set up with the student or faculty researcher in mind?

On the other hand, are students planning their leisure time and study time as wisely as possible in order to use the library when it is open?

Long Hours Mondays-Thursday

From Monday through Thursday the library is open from 7:45 a.m. until 10 at night. Those who have free hours during the day have ample opportunity to utilize library facilities. And there are evening hours for those who need them.

However, on weekends the library does not observe the same hours.

Friday's closing time is 5:30. Saturday's hours are 7:30-4. On Sunday the library is open only 3 1/2 hours - 5:30-9, leaving little flexibility in time-scheduling if Sunday library work is necessary.

More Week-end Hours Sought

Could more appropriate week-end library hours be arranged for students and for teachers conducting research?

Because so many are doing research during the rest of this semester, the Herald discussed the extending of library hours with Miss Sara Tyler, librarian, last week.

Library hours of 7:45-10 six nights a week and Sunday expansion from 2 until 10 with a skeleton staff on week-end evenings were suggested.

Miss Tyler stated that efforts would be made to make the library available for this increased research but also pointed out some of the difficulties faced by her staff.

Qualified Librarian Always On Duty

"It is the policy of Western's library to have a fully qualified librarian on duty whenever the library is open," she commented. Some other colleges keep their libraries open late every night by allowing student assistants to be in charge at slack times.

Paradoxically, late each semester when students use the library and need library assistance more than ever, the library's student helpers are also busier with their studies. Some work fewer hours, and a few quit their jobs.

Sunday Response 'Quite Good'

"Response to the Sunday evening hours has been quite good," continued Miss Tyler, "for many students utilize the library at this time."

"But previous Friday night hours were eliminated when just a few students used the library each Friday night."

Miss Vera Grinstead, library science, wholeheartedly agreed about poor attendance on Friday nights and doubted if many would use the library now at that time.

Perhaps a compromise could be reached.

Library hours could be expanded on a trial basis. If attendance is good, these hours would become permanent when the library moves into larger quarters and has a larger staff next fall.

And, student researchers could give more consideration to taking full advantage of the library's facilities when it is open by better planning of their daily routine.

Alpha Phi Omega Lends Helping Hand

Service is a sideline for many organizations, fraternal and otherwise. But service is by design the extent and purpose of Alpha Phi Omega.

The 30 men of the Xi Psi chapter of APhiO step in when and where they are needed. Past projects include hosting the NCAA tournament game in the AAB, ushering at Western Players productions and forming a "baggage bus" to help girls move into the dorms in September.

Four APhiO's shoulder the responsibility of leading a Boy Scout troop at Potter Orphanage, while others assist with a troop at State Street Methodist Church.

Another APhiO year-round concern is mailing the Herald to all subscribers.

May 9 marks one year since the brotherhood was made a chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, an international service fraternity. In that year, the group has earned esteem by carrying through the ideals of APhiO: "Service to the student body, to the community, to members of the fraternity, and to the nation as participating citizens."

Alpha Phi Omega deserves congratulations on many jobs well done and thanks in advance for the work scheduled for the future.

Catalog Improvements Suggested By Students

EDITOR'S NOTE—This article is the first in a series concerning Western's catalog, which is currently being revised and rewritten for publication this summer. Interviews were obtained by Sharon Elrod, Phyllis Goodman, Denny Slinker, Kay Twaryonas, and David West.

A variety of student comments on the College's catalog was submitted late last week by Herald interviewers. The comments were prompted by a statement in the February 24 Herald by Dr. Raymond L. Cravens, Dean of the Faculty, whose office is responsible for publication of the catalog and is presently revising and rewriting it.

Dean Cravens stated, "Certainly any publication can be improved. I would encourage any student or faculty member to submit any constructive criticism concerning the catalog."

Many Noted Make-up

Many of the interviewees commented favorably on the general make-up of the catalog, particularly on the use of pictures throughout the publication.

Pat Keltner, a senior, suggested, "A page should be added to the material describing the buildings. This page would explain the abbreviations used in other campus publications for each of the buildings on campus."

Junior Juanita Overhults stated, "I think the material on the social fraternal system should be expanded to include a brief summary of each of the fraternities and sororities on campus." "This inclusion would be beneficial to incoming freshmen and transfer students."

Elementary Education Clear? Or Not Clear?

Susan Whitfield, a freshman, expressed the wish that all departments would list a block like that for elementary education.

tion, so that the student would have a clear guide to follow in selecting classes.

Yet a junior, Georgia Harness, commented, "It's hard for elementary education majors to find out what they should take."

Perhaps some have not read through their catalog.

For example, a sophomore miss (name withheld) suggested that the index be arranged in alphabetical order. (Please see pages 190-2.)

Explain To Freshmen

"More of the Freshmen Orientation period could be devoted to discussing the catalog," stated Donald Hopkins, a senior.

He added, "The catalog is somewhat difficult for beginning freshmen to understand, but this difficulty is inherent in college catalogs for those not familiar with the terminology, and blame cannot be placed on this college catalog in particular."

Senior John Mooningham suggested, "More departments could offer seminars on what's required of majors and minors." This would be clarifying, yet time-saving, as groups of students, rather than one or two at a time, would be told of required subjects.

Working on the Herald must be a valuable experience. At the end of the first semester associate editor Finley Willis decided to give up his position to devote more time to classwork and his job as a reporter at the Park City Daily News.

Last week co-associate editor Margaret Gentry submitted her resignation "due to class commitments and the requirements of a full-time job," women's page editor of the Daily News. The Herald accepts her resignation with regret because of her ability, versatility and dedication.

When an editor loses two of his top associates in one year, it reflects either internal problems or the fact that experience on the Herald has been beneficial. I believe that they would both agree that it was the experience and financial gain which prompted the changes.

Don't Forget ... the meeting on student government tonight at 7 p.m. in the Little Theater of the Library. If you're concerned, attend.

... Dick Clark and his "Caravan of Stars" who will appear in the E. A. Diddle Arena tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

My first experience with the Western Get-Together Breakfast during KEA was indeed an enjoyable one. It was heartening to see so many former students who still are sincerely concerned with activities on the Hill. One of the speeches, quoted liberally on page 2, gave me a new and previously unconsidered view of the College.

The Winter intramural program ended last week the IM basketball tournament. Sigma Nu copped the bowling title. Lambda Chi Alpha is wearing the basketball crown.

Congratulations are due to John Hopp who has been responsible for scheduling events and who coordinates the men's II program.

Not 18th Century, But ...

Western Debate As Old As The Hill

By GEORGE WILSON

Although the history of debate at Western does not go back as far as the 18th century when the first intercollegiate debate was held between Harvard and Yale universities, it does begin with the college itself.

During the early years of the college, literary societies on campus engaged in debates, speeches, and orations during their meetings.

Two of these societies were the Kit Kat Society and the Pyreidian Society. Debaters were limited to members of the society, and campus recognition for such groups was relatively small.

Intramural Debating First

Then, in 1919, the Congress Debating club was founded on campus and was strictly for intramural debating.

After ten years as the sponsor of this group, Dr. F. C. Grise became dean of the college and remained so until his retirement in 1959.

Because of its founding in 1919, the Congress Debating club is the oldest organization now at Western.

Debate Rejuvenated

During World War II, debate and debate interest disappeared here. But in the late 1940's a dynamic student led a drive to bring back debate to Western.

This student is now the dean of the faculty, Raymond L. Cravens.

As a student, Cravens was so successful in his efforts to restore debating to the campus that for the first time Western began intercollegiate debating in addition to the intramural debate schedule.

An award-winning debater, Cravens represented Western for his four years as a student and later coached the debate team as a graduate assistant.

Women Admitted

A definite spur to the interest in debate was the admittance of women both to the Congress Debating club and to the college team some 15 years ago.

The growth of the debate teams through the years parallels that of the college itself.

The present debate team is some 25 members strong with both men and women participating. Randall Capps, an assistant professor of English, is the team's coach.

In 1963, Western first awarded debate scholarships. Only one other school in the state offers scholarships to debaters.

With the expansion of the debate budget in 1962, the team is now able to travel to many parts of the nation and will cover approximately 10,000 miles next year.

The Congress Debating club is advised by Dr. William Jenkins, dean of the College of Commerce. Its intramural debate program is being expanded for this semester to include four debates open to participation by the entire student body.

They have one son, Richard, who attended Western, and three grandsons in Arizona. Richard enjoys sports, having participated in track and basketball in high school.

Grass, Not Tobacco Growing In Stadium

By TOD PORTER

Contrary to the rumor that may have been circulated, school officials are not growing tobacco in the stadium field to help pay for the new arena.

Owen Lawson, director of maintenance, said that possibly some might think tobacco was being grown but this was not the case.

The field has been raked and two tons of soil conditioner is being placed on the turf to combat hardness and improve the physical composition of the soil.

Also, a mixture of bluegrass, ryegrass, and Bermuda grass will be sown.

Officials have asked students to PLEASE, STAY OFF THE STADIUM FIELD until this project has been completed.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

All students participating, or planning to participate, in the National Defense Student Loan Program should attend a meeting in Van Meter Auditorium, Thursday afternoon, April 29 at 4 p.m.

Conditions relating to receiving the loan, as well as repayments, will be discussed. Questions will be welcomed.

Drought, Worms And Students Created Versatile Faculty House

THIS IS THE HOUSE that students built. It was the student center in 1922 when it first opened. After many years and several changes, it became the Faculty House. Teachers and staff members gather in the cedar log building for coffee and casual colloquy, as seen from a balcony conference room.

By BETTY CAMNITZ
and TONY JOHNSON

A drought, bag worms, and industrious students were responsible for its construction. In past years it has served Western's campus as everything from library to recreation hall. "It" is Western's Faculty House, a log building with a fascinating history.

The first chapter in the history of the Faculty House was written in 1918. The Hill was known as the Hill, but the school was Western Kentucky State Normal School — Henry Hardin Cherry, president.

That summer brought a damaging drought and a plague of bag worms. Many cedar trees on campus were soon dead. The 1,559 students decided something must be done to get rid of the ugly trees and at the same time make use of the wood.

Armed With Axes

Armed with old-fashioned axes and blueprints for a recreation center, the students set out to chop down the trees. In the fall of '22 the Senior House was completed.

The faculty signed the note for expenses which amounted to $6,500. The note was repaid by the income from student activities.

The second chapter in Faculty House history was written when the Senior House became the library in 1923. Senior House became Cedar House when the library moved in, and the students moved their activities elsewhere.

Books Move Out

In 1928 the library moved its 1,800 volumes to the present library and the Cedar House again fulfilled its original purpose. For 24 years, Cedar House was the social center of the Hill — not only for students, but for teachers as well.

The third chapter finds the Cedar House being used as a band practice room by the Training School.

Sports, Installation Plans, Projects, Parties Occupy Greek Organizations

Lambda Chi Alpha colony received official word this weekend that the group will be chartered Lambda-Lambda Zeta of Lambda Chi Alpha national fraternity in installation ceremonies May 14 and 15.

Service Secretary George Spasyk, Grand High Phi William J. Hill, and other fraternity dignitaries will be on hand for the occasion.

A luncheon, initiation ceremonies, a formal banquet featuring speeches by fraternity and college officials, and a formal dance will highlight the weekend activities.

The Lambda Chi Alpha basketball team captured the intramural basketball championship last week. The team finished the season with a 13-0 slate.

Kappa Sigma fraternity has gone all out in support of coach Tom Ecker's track team this spring.

Pledge Frank DeBlase won two firsts in the shot and discus. Pledge Mike Oliver took second in the mile run. Pledge Roger Naylor was first in the 100-yard dash.

Other fine performances were turned in by pledges Harry Martin, Gil Hardin and John Rielly. Kappa Sig Jack Mahurin is Ecker's assistant coach, and plans to coach high school track after leaving Western. Brothers Ed Anderson and Bob Newsome served as official timers for the event.

The fraternity has also kept itself busy preparing for the annual Kappa Sigma "Black and White" formal which will take place at the Indian Hills country club on May 8.

On Saturday, the pledge class, in conjunction with the Phi Mu fraternity pledge class, will sponsor a pancake fry at the State Street Methodist Church. It will last from 7 a. m. until 4 p. m. Your ticket will entitle you to all the pancakes you can eat.

The pledges of Sigma Nu teamed up with the pledges of Chi Omega sorority last Saturday to provide a picnic for the orphans of Potter Orphan Home. The two hour picnic involved an Easter egg hunt, contests, and group games with awards for the winners.

Joe Downing, a junior from Glasgow, was elected the new president of the fraternity for the 1965-66 school year.

Other officers elected were George Wilson, vice president; Merle Stoner, treasurer; Reed Morgan, senior Inter-Fraternity Council representative; Wayne Copas, junior IFC representative; Ted Tiemann, secretary; Pat Robison, pledge marshal; Tom Ryan, asst. pledge marshal; and Billy Ray Cartwright, intramural director. More elections are due tonight.

Reed Morgan has been elected treasurer of the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Friday night the pledge class will sponsor a party for the actives and continue to fulfill the requirements for admission to the fraternity.

May 8 is set for the time when the colony will become the Eta Rho chapter of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Kappa Gamma Chi sent four delegates to the Sigma Phi Epsilon leadership convention Apr. 9-11 at East Tennessee State University. President Ira Bryant and two other delegates met with the Sig Ep district governor and national representatives Apr. 3 in Louisville. The fraternity also sent six representatives to the Kentucky Alpha chapter Apr. 10.

The Red Rose Ball will be enjoyed April 24 by the members of Alpha Omicron Pi colony. The Phi Mu Alpha Symphonia will play for the annual dance at Detrex. A picnic the following day will be at Ruth Ann Koostira's farm. AOPi welcomes their new honorary members: Mrs. E. A. Diddle Sr., Mrs. E. A. Diddle Jr., and Mrs. H. P. Kincaid. Alpha Chi colony's representative for the "Girl of AOPi" award is Carolyn Hancock.

The Alpha Delta Pi colony anticipates a busy weekend. A banquet and a dance are on the agenda Friday night. The pledges will give an informal party Saturday night. The ADPi officers for 1965 are president, Ginnie Twaddle; vice-president, Sandra Young; recording secretary, Karen Harris; corresponding secretary, Marilyn Steed; treasurer, Susan Nooe; membership chairman, Glenda Smith; guard, Karen Kargle; chaplain, Donna Russell; registrar, Cheryl Rotter; and reporter-historian, Barbara Thurmond. The ADPi pledges were guests of the Pi Kappa Alpha pledges at a dessert last week.

Linda Thomas, panhellenic representative of Chi Omega attended a Panhellenic conference at the University of Tennessee during Spring vacation. The Chi O's worked on an Easter kindness for a needy family. Ann Ping was chairman of the project. The Chi O pledges and the Sigma Nu pledges had as much fun as the children in giving an Easter egg hunt at Potter Orphanage.

The Sigma Kappa providence president, Mrs. Jeanne Chaffin, visited Western this week. The Sigma Kappa's are planning a get-together in Louisville Derby weekend. Sigma Kappa pledges visited two local nursing homes before Easter. The pledge class will have a rummage sale April 24.

Cadet Colonel Jerry Cossey presents $100 to Lt. Col. Grover Smith, head of the military science department. The money, which is part of the proceeds from the Military Ball, will be added to the ROTC Award fund.

SIGMA NU presented its first Jim Brown Memorial Scholarship to Morgan Cox (seated right). The scholarship pays a full year's tuition for graduates of Oldham County high school and was dedicated to a brother who was fatally injured in an automobile accident. A. J. Thurman, director of the College Heights Foundation, discusses the scholarship with Cox while Joe Downing, treasurer of Sigma Nu, and Jerry Wilson, scholarship chairman, look on.

Nation's No. 1 College Vaulters

Henry Wadsworth became the nation's top collegiate vaulter with his vault of 16 feet, 1/2 inch at Western Stadium in dual meet competition against Tennessee Tech. The leap was the highest of the year for college vaulters.

Kentucky's highest vaulter Henry Wadsworth and his Hilltopper teammates seek their second straight dual meet victory of the track and field season at Southeast Missouri this afternoon.

Coach Tom Ecker will be accompanied by a select group of Topper cindermen who will be participating in the Indiana Relays Saturday at Bloomington, Ind. Western travels to Middle Tennessee Tuesday.

Tops Rout Tech
In their first home appearance, the Hilltoppers broke two school records in routing visiting Tennessee Tech. The lanky Wadsworth pleased the enthusiastic Western crowd by vaulting 16 feet and 1/2 inch to draw a standing ovation from the 2,500 throng.

The height was the highest that the first-ranked collegian vaulter had ever vaulted in competition.

One other school record fell, that being the 2-mile record going to freshman Pat DeLuca in a time of 9:31.6. The old record was held by Tom Graham, set last year in the OVC meet at Murfreesboro, Tenn.

The meet also produced standouts in several of the other events. Chuck Gullo was a double winner in the 100 and 220, while also anchoring the 440 relay team.

Also Frank DeBiase was a double winner in the shot put and discus, along with Tom Gard in the long jump and triple jump.

Netters To Visit Murray Friday

Murray State's defending OVC tennis champions will host Western, Eastern, and Middle Tennessee State net squads Friday and Saturday. Murray gained the OVC tennis crown last year when they eased past Western by a two-point margin.

Murray will be the scene of keen and rigorous tennis action as the Hilltoppers tackle the Racers Friday, and then Saturday morning serve against Middle Tennessee with Western finishing its visit by playing Eastern that afternoon.

OVC Meet Preview?

The final outcome of the matches will serve as an important indicator as to what team possesses the strength to win this year's OVC championship, to be in Johnson City, Tenn., May 14 and 15. Most opinion is that it will again go to the wire with defending champion Murray and Western netters.

Tops 8, Ind. State 1

Bill Beverly mustered enough strength in the third set of his No. 6 singles match to defeat Indiana State's Charles Muston 3-6, 6-0, 12-10, to add luster to Western's 8-1 victory over the Indiana State Sycamores here a week ago.

Ed Eberth's volley wasn't sharp enough to defeat Lee Holmes in the only loss Western suffered. The other Topper netmen easily won their matches to give Coach Ted Hornback his fifth victory of the season.

Western 5, DePaul 4

The Toppers remained unbeaten last Tuesday thanks to the No. 3 doubles team of Larry Peeno and Tom Bohlinger, who helped gain Western its fourth win of the season.

With the games tied at 4 all, Peeno and Bohlinger clinched their grueling 3-setter by the well-placed hard returns of overhead lobs from DePaul's Jack Bartel and Louis Stein which kept Peeno and Bohlinger busy, deep in back court.

Jackie Cooper allowed Terry Garvey only four games of their two setter.

Tom Cooper clinched an even easier victory, winning in the No. 3 slot, 6-1, 6-0, and then teamed with his brother to win the No. 1 doubles match.

Tops 7, Bellarmine 0

For the second consecutive contest Western's tennis team was victorious without losing a match to their opponent, as the Toppers handed Bellarmine College a 7 to 0 trouncing on Bellarmine's home courts.

Tops 9, Xavier 0

Coach Ted Hornback's hard hitting Topper netmen easily blanked host Xavier University two weeks ago by a score of 9-0. Continued on page 13, column 1

Spring Drills Underway

For head football coach Nick Denes, the search has just begun.

Denes and his coaching staff, currently conducting their annual spring drills, are searching for replacements of players who helped Western compile a 21-6-2 record during the last three years.

New Quarterback

Replacements must be found for Jim Burt, Pat Counts, Dale Lindsey, Hugh Sturgeon, Joe Bill Campbell, Stan Napper, Sharon Miller, Eddie Crum, Tom Murrell and Walt Hawkins.

One main concern is the naming of a quarterback to replace Miller. Top candidates include Ralph Seibel of Greensburg, Ind., and Denny Obst of Louisville.

Swedish Duo To Conclude Their Visit

By BILLY LAWRENCE

Two athletes from Sweden visiting on campus to train with the track team under Coach Tom Ecker are pole vaulter Hans Lagerqvist and the Scandinavian discus champion Lars Haglund.

Some questions were asked them concerning their visit in this country and their comparisons of the training differences for track men in both countries. Here are some of the replies.

During spring vacation Ecker, the Swedish athletes, and juniors Dave West and Tom Graham toured the western United States. Asked about the most unusual place they visited, the reply was the "Badlands."

Like Disneyland

This reporter then asked what they enjoyed most about the tour. Both answered, "the Grand Canyon and Disneyland."

Both men said that they like this country; Hans likes the weather and climate while Lars enjoys cheeseburgers, combination salads, and the informal dress of the Americans. Hans has also taken to cheeseburgers, plus milk shakes and banana splits.

They like the American way of running on a school team, considering it a big advantage over methods in other countries.

In their own country one has to train and practice on his own.

World's Longest Discus Throw

Swedish discus thrower Lars Haglund, ranked eighth in the world in the discus, hurled the discus into Grand Canyon during a recent tour of the United States. Haglund and fellow Swede Hans Lagerqvist have been training under the direction of Hilltopper track coach Tom Ecker. The distance of his throw? Approximately one mile—down!

Indiana's "Mr. Basketball" To Visit Campus Saturday; Ohio Valley Conf. Meeting Begins Tomorrow In Louisville

Indiana's "Mr. Basketball" Bill Keller will visit the Hilltop Saturday and Sunday. Keller, a 5-11 sparkplug guard who led Indianapolis Washington to its first Indiana state basketball title, is one of four hardwood stalwarts being sought by the coaching staff who plan visiting Western within the next few weeks.

Keller, who recently visited Purdue University, also is a catcher on Washington's baseball squad.

Burly 6-8 Mike Grosso of Bridgewater, N.J. plans to visit the campus at the end of this month. Grosso, the discus champion of New Jersey, is one of the nation's ten most sought-after high school basketball players.

Kentucky state champion Breckinridge County's Butch Beard plans to tour Western May 2. Beard last Saturday at Murray was met by a parade.

Former Daviess County graduate Don Crosley, 6-8, 235 pounds, stopped by to see coach John Oldham recently. Crosley, who played on Western's frosh team with Bobby Rascoe, has just completed a four-year Marine hitch.

OVC MEETING TOMORROW

The Ohio Valley Conference's annual spring meeting will start tomorrow in Louisville. Topics on the agenda include possible league expansion, the holiday basketball tournament, a new conference football schedule for 1967, higher wages for officials, possible experimentation with a Friday-Saturday loop basketball arrangement instead of the Saturday-Monday setup, a discussion of the structure of the national letter-of-intent which the league has agreed to follow and a discussion centering upon a $15 monthly incidental fee in its scholarships.

HENDRICK SIGNS WITH WESTERN

Schoolboy All-American Rich Hendrick of Bristow high school recently signed a grant-in-aid with the Hilltoppers. The 6-1, 165 pound guard averaged 42 points per game last season after leading the nation's schoolboy players with a 42.7 average his junior year.

"I saw Rich play about 10 games the past season and he showed me all the qualities needed to produce a truly great basketball player," coach Oldham attested after watching Hendrick sign.

With the addition of Hendrick, the Western frosh list has grown to three with the earlier signings of Hart Memorial's 6-2 backcourt star Johnny Russell who scored 598 points in 30 games for a 19.9 average and Henderson County's 6-5 forward Daryl Hallmark who was the first player signed for the 1965-66 season.

SWEDES SWISH THROUGH U.S.

Swedish athletes Hans Lagerqvist and Lars Haglund, who are completing a month's training program under Tom Ecker, toured the United States during Western's Spring Vacation. Points of interest for the Swedish duo were New Orleans, Texas, New Mexico and the Grand Canyon. The pair performed in an exhibition during Western's first dual track meet of the season in the Western stadium.

Frosh Linksman Bill Bewley Blasting Course At 13-Under For Last 36 Holes

Coach Frank Griffin's par busting golfers, led by Bill Bewley in their last two outings, will oppose OVC opponent Tennessee Tech Friday at Cookeville, Tenn.

The Hilltoppers will be seeking their 17th straight dual meet victory on the links in two seasons.

13 Under Par

Bewley, a freshman from Glasgow, has provided par smashing drives which have enabled the defending Glasgow Invitational title holder to go 13 strokes under par in his last 36 holes of collegiate competition at the Indian Hills Country club course.

Going eight-under-par against Evansville College, Bewley led Western to its second win of the season as the Toppers belted the Purple Aces 23-4. Last Friday, Bewley returned to the par 74 Indian Hills course to carve a five-under 69 thanks to five straight birdies as Western edged visiting Indiana State 12-9.

Bewley birdied 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16 to defeat Bill Kendall who was one-over with a 75. Victories against Indiana State were carded by Tom Van Britson, who finished eighth in the Florida Collegiate Invitational golf tournament in early April, and by Bruce Clark, former College High linksman.

Western played at Austin Peay Monday. Following the Tennessee Tech match, the Toppers tee off at David Lipscomb on Monday and at Kentucky Wesleyan next Wednesday before returning home to face Kentucky Wesleyan Friday, Apr. 30.

The Toppers are preparing for their upcoming title-round for the OVC golf championships to be held May 14-15 at Johnson City, Tenn.

Chevelle. This one's got lively looks, spirited power, a softer ride—and remarkable room atop a highly maneuverable wheelbase. No wonder it's today's favorite mid-size car.

Chevy II. No car so trim has a right to be so thrifty. But thrifty it is, with money-savers like brakes that adjust themselves and a long-lived exhaust system.
